

David W. Denton, Ph.D.

Relevant Academic Credentials

- Ph.D., Industrial-Organizational Psychology. Jointly awarded by the Haslam College of Business and the Department of Psychology, University of Tennessee
- M.S., Industrial-Organizational Psychology, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga

Relevant Professional Titles

- Professor, Department of Leadership (current), Austin Peay State University
- Dean, College of Behavioral and Health Sciences., Austin Peay State University
- Assistant Professor of Management, Department of Business Administration, Transylvania University
- Chair, Department of Psychology, Austin Peay State University
- Director of Training and Leadership Development, Books-A-Million, Inc.

Undergraduate Leadership Classes Developed and/or Taught

- LDSP 3100 Organizational Dynamics, Politics, and Change
- LDSP 3120 Developing Leaders in Organizations
- LDSP 4620 Emerging Issues in Leadership: Followership
- LDSP 4980 Advances in Leadership Science

Relevant Scholarly and Creative Interests/Activities

- Design of undergraduate leadership curricula
- Textbook usage in undergraduate introductory leadership courses
- Defining the content domain of leadership education

Selected Professional Memberships/Activities

- Association of Leadership Educators (reviewer for conference and Journal of Leadership Education submissions)
- Society for Industrial-Organizational Psychology
- Association of Psychological Science